Cole's Universal Guano Distributor!

More of this style of Distributors are sold than all others combined. We call attention to the many points of superiority found in the Cole Distributor. The WHEEL and HOPPER are strongly made and well braced. The Wheel is made of seasoned timber, two-ply cross grained, cement nailed and held firmly by two flanges and three bolts. The FEED KNIVE3 have our peculiar pattern and arrangement for the best results. The CUT-OFF is of improved design and is controlled by a lever in easy reach of the operator. This Laver is in rear of Hopper and protected by the handles. The GUAGE is positive, accurate and easy to set, The whole machine is a splendid example of accurate and intelligent workmanship.

The Cole Universal Planter No. 7.

Our Universal Planter is a marvel of simplicity and efficiency. No other Planter ever invented will do an equal variety and quality of work. This Planter has the best Guano Sower yet made. It will distribute with perfect regularity any quantity from 25 to 600 pounds to the acre. . It does not work up the guano into a sticky mass, but it forces out continuously just the quantity wanted. It surprises and delights the operator by the smooth, unvijing action and its great simplicity.

This is truly a Universal Planter. At one trip this Planter sows guand, and plants in the most perfect manner cotton, corn, peas, peanuts, sorghum, cantaloupe, beans and similar seeds. It works well on land broken fist or upon ridges. Do not drag off ridges or open a furrow for this Planter-it is a waste of time, for this Planter will do all this at the same time and run easier than any other Planter.

The Cole Universal Planter is simple, durable and thoroughly practical. The depth, distance and quantity of seed are easily adjustable.

It plants cotton better than any other Planter, it plants corn better than any corn planter. It is the only combination planter that plants peanuts

It is the greatest labor-saving and money-making Planter you can buy. It is the cheapest Planter on earth.

We guarantee satisfaction to any responsible farmer who will give our Planters a fair trial. We know that Cole Planters are the best on the market A trial will convince you.

A Fearful Tragedy in the Rock Mills Sec-

This community was terribly shock-

anything of the tragedy until about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, when he was informed of the fact by a brother of Luther Strickland, who lives at the Anderson cotton mills.

Mr. Burns told the writer that this brother of Luther Strickland, and another gentlemen from Anderson, came out to his house on Sunday morning and said that Luther Strickland came to the home of this brother at the mill town on Saturday night and told him that he had strack his wife three licks on the shoulders and back with an axe and that he supposed that she was dead. (I did not learn whether she was in bid when he struck her or or not.) He also said that he put his little four-year-old boy in bed with her and covered them and went to Anderson and made this confession to his brother, who, in company with another gentleman, came out to see about it, and this was the first Mr. Burns knew of the matter. They also told Mr. Burns that after making this confession that he (Luther Strickland) went and gave himself up to the sheriff.

Coroner Pruitt came out and held an inquest Sunday evening.

The remains of the dead woman will be baried at New Hope Church this (Monday) evening.

According to his story he was awakened Saturday night by a roise in the yard and upon making an investigation discovered his wife in company with another man. The man ran as soon as Strickland alpeared. In his frenzy, Strickland alleges, he seized an axe and struck his wife severely across the head and shoulders. The woman staggered into the house, and Strickland believing that he had indicted faul injuries came to the city to give himself up.

An investigation was immediately ordered and officers of the law repaired to the scene of the crime to ascertain just what had happened. None of Strickland's neighbors had heard of the crime. The house was entered and the woman was found cold in death in her bed with the bed clothing arranged orderly about her and with her four-year-old child eleeping peacefully by her side. An ugly gash told the story of her death. To all appearances the death wound had been inflicted while she slept.

Strickland's story is not believed by his neighbors. They say that he had been cruel to his wife and does not bear a good reputation. When the crime is investigated in the courts another story may develop in the terrible tragedy.

Court Proceedings.

The winter term of the Court of General Sessions began Monday morn-ing at 10 o'clock, Judge James Alding at 10 o'clock, Judge James Aldrich, of the second circuit, presiding. The docket is crowded with cases and is the heaviest in years. There are several murder cases awaiting trial.

The grand jury was organized by the election of Msj. J. N. Vandiver as foreman. Solicitor Boggs gave the jury a number of bills, which have been acted upon, but their work with hardly be concluded before tomorrow when their final presentment will be read.

The trial of Luther Woodson and Mrs. Harriet Burgess, of Pelzer, for the murder of Clifford Adoock was entered into Monday. The case went to the jury yesterday morning. Both these parties, who are white and who lived at Pelzer, were tried for the murder of Clifford Adoock. Woodson and the Burgess woman lived in the same house together. The father of young Adoock came to their house to collect a debt from Weedson, and a difficulty ensued which involved the son. It is alleged that during a struggle batween ensued which involved the son. ### Presented With a Walking Cane.

James E. Horton, who has just retired from the office of Postmaster at Belton, was a most popular and efficient official. A few days ago he was the recipient of a handsome walking cane, presented to him by the rural free delivery carriers who go out from that office. The following letter accompanied the cane:

This community was terribly shocked here yesterday morning when it was learned that Mrs. Strickland had been killed at her home on Saturday night.

She and her husband, Luther Strickland, were living on Mr. Sam. Burns' place near Roberts Church, and about two hundred yards from Mr. Burns' residence, and Mr. Burns did not know anything of the tragedy until about 10 o'clock Sunday morning, when he was informed of the fact by a brother of lather Strickland, when he was informed of the fact by a brother of lather Strickland and we trust under the new manage ment it may be equally as much so. This memento will remind you of the R. F. D. boys and our very pleasant associations. Wishing you success, happiness, and long life we are, most stocerely, yours.

If The Eye Says One Thing and the Tongue Says Another, You Will Believe the Former. Spoken of in the Bible Five Hundred and Thirty-Four Times.

Of all the endowments of our Creator the Eye is the most valuable, without it we are deprived of all that makes life dethe Eye is the most valuable, without it we are deprived of all that makes life desirable. It respects nother age nor rank, poverty nor riches, learning nor power. It speaks all languages, conversing as much as the tongue, with the advantage that it needs no dictionary. If the eye says one thing and the tongue another, you will believe the former. There are asking eyes, asserting eyes, prowling eyes and eyes full of fate, some good and some of sinister omen. They are a position index of character, disposition and feeling. Have you not seen them flash with indignation, brighten with enthusiasm, start with fright, leer with vitiainy, droop with sadness, fire with revenge, twinkle with merriment or beam with love? None but he who has lost it can appreciate its value. Sampson with his eyes put out was weaker than the dwarf. Go to any asylum for the bilind and ask victims of Ophthalmia the value of an eye, then see if you will go on stumbling and blundering in regard to its preservation, trusting vendors, peddiers and fakirs for its treatment and protection. All the tissues of the bely are represented in the eye. It is so olosely and intimately connected with not only the brain but the entire nervous system that its maltreatment or impairment frequently causes the loss of sight or leads to serious nervous complicasystem that its maltreatment or impairment frequently causes the loss of eight or leads to serious nervous complications and affections. To give a full description of the functions and defects of the eye would take up many pages, what we wish to speak of here is the troubles, causes and cures of most frequent occurences and when other teatment is unnecessary glasses can be made to produce the desired relief, but must be ground by the eye specianits prescription. Lawyers, physicians, merchants and mechanics who are successful in their vocations divide their labors into specialities. You may ask any physician in what tions divide their labors into specialties. You may ask any physician in what cases he is most successful, he would probably say fevers, pneumonis or pleurisy, while others would excel in skin diseases. Why are they more successful in some diseases than other? Because they have given the most of their study and practice to these special diseases, hence they acquire greater skill in the consequently. Should any of our readers feel the need of glasses, or wish to have their eyes looked after in any way, we would advise them to consult Dr. McCreary Glymph, now with Dr. A. C.
